Curriculum Vitae MANFRED MÜLLER (Düsseldorf, Germany, 1950)

Manfred Müller is a German born, Los Angeles based artist. Müller's interest in the relationship between architecture and sculpture has greatly informed his art making. His art making is diverse: site-specific work, drawings, paintings, installations and photography evocate a sense of depth, while maintaining a connection with the space. Earlier abstract paper pieces evoked capes, mantles, and coats. His recent work including the "Prelude", "UMS", and "LCI Dawn" series all use paper folded, scored and painted. While the latter two series tend to favor flatness, Müller's subtly unconventional compositions and evocative use of depth allow the pieces to maintain a strong connection with the sense of space in his previous works.

Throughout his career Manfred Müller has made large--scale, site--specific sculptures and installations from diverse materials such as steel, wood, cement, paper, and recycled industrial machine parts. Trained as an engineering draftsman, Müller uses architecture, the industrial landscape and simple geometry to explore the relationship between objects, space and meaning. These works unite disparate elements into eloquent combinations of form and color. While his artistic practice is rooted in sculpture, Müller has consistently produced sketches and drawings that support and inform his larger works. Sometimes they are studies towards larger projects, but more often the sketches are a response to what is happening in the studio and are conceived of and executed as independent works in their own right. Employing familiar techniques on a smaller scale, Müller interrupts the paper's flat surface with incised lines and raised edges to give the drawings a sculptural three--dimensionality. These subtly nuanced changes in texture allow light to play on the surface, acting as the point of contact between drawn line and edge tension. Müller transforms the humblest of materials into objects of profound poetic beauty. These works on paper continue to serve Müller as a rich depository of ideas for his ongoing visual diary.

Müller has created literally thousands of paper works, in part because they are tremendously flexible. They can serve as a kind of sketchpad that allows him to explore the exquisite minuet that occurs between positive and negative space. They can present themselves as jaunty, insouciant works with the pop pizzazz of a Stuart Davis. They can be polished and perfected into elegant sculptural wall works in the tradition of Le Corbusier, Naum Gabo, Joseph Beuys and his teacher Erwin Heerich.

Effecting him gradually and subtly over the twelve years he has lived in Germany has been the city of Los Angeles. "Graphic design plays a big role in a lot of the art produced in Los Angeles, and it's clearly apparent in works by artists such as Ed Ruscha and John Baldessari," Müller observes. "i come from a very different school. I have always appreciated the elegance of graphics but I've resisted allowing that quality to seep into my own work, probably because the art school I attended was tremendously influenced by Beuys, who tended to be critical and suspicious of anything slick."

Manfred Müller was born 1950 in Düsseldorf, Germany. From 1967 to 1970 he apprenticed as a technical draftsman, receiving his state license as an engineering draftsman. From 1971 to 1975 he studied visual communication at the Fachlochschule Düsseldorf and from 1976 to 1981 he attended the Kunstakademie in Düsseldorf, Germany -- studying under Erwin Heerich (1922--2004). After leaving the Kunstakademie in 1981 he was awarded a Cité des Artes Scholarship, Paris, France and received grants from the city of Düsseldorf in 1983, and the German Industry Endowment of the Arts in 1985. In 1989 Müller relocated to Los Angeles. Recent selected solo and group exhibitions include: Objects are Closer Than They Appear, Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery, Barnsdall Art Park, Los Angeles, CA, 2014; Framing Abstraction: Mark, Symbol, Signifier, Los Angeles Municipal Art Gallery, Barnsdall Art Park, Los Angeles, CA, 2011; Heidi Cho Gallery, New York, NY, 2010; Heliotropo, Galerie Lopez Quiroga, Mexico City, Mexico, 2010.
